PRESIDENT WILSON OPPOSES TREATY RESERVATIONS

Said if Senate Made it Necessary to Negotiate Separate Peace Lodge and Knox go to Germany

Treaty Amendments Would Require U. S. to Beg Germany for Separate Peace

BY L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 16.—All efforts by democratic senators to agree with republicans on the program of reservations to the peace treaty, were abandoned as a result of word from President Wilson.

The president told Senator Hitchcock late yesterday that the day for discussing reservations is a long way off, that all that the democrats must concede their efforts on is the defeat of all of the proposals for the amendment of the treaty. As the president suggested, Hitchcock will begin driving next week against acceptance of amendments.

"Amendments in the president's view," said Hitchcock, "would mean that the United States would have to go back to Germany, hat in hand, begging for acceptance of conditions of the peace treaty." The president said that if the senate made it necessary to negotiate separate peace with Germany, he would send Knox and Lodge to Berlin to make the new treaty.

More Stored Food Seized

(By United Press)

Detroit, Aug. 16.—Eggs and butter worth $442,762 alleged to have been hoarded since April 1, were seized by federal agents here today at the Detroit Refrigerator company.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 16.—A libel to not seizure of about 75,000 pounds of beans stored in a warehouse here to be issued today by United States District Attorney Wilson, is the first move by the government authorities in the campaign against food profiteering here.

Clothing in Denver Increased 53 Per Cent

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 16.—The cost of food and clothing has risen faster in Denver during the last year and a half than any one of the 13 principal cities of which the labor department completed a survey.

The result of the survey covering the period between December, 1917, and June, 1919, in food and clothing were up 53.02% during the period according to reports.

C. B. AMES

Judge Ames of Oklahoma recently took office as assistant attorney general of the United States. During the last six months of the war he was food administrator for Oklahoma.

H. PERCIVAL DODGE

H. Percival Dodge, a diplomat of long experience, has been named as the first representative of the United States in the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. Mr. Dodge at one time was chief of the Latin-American bureau of the state department.

Allies Agree to Roumanian Occupa- tion of Budapest

(By United Press)

Paris, Aug. 16.—The peace conference in a note forwarded to Bucharest yesterday agreed to the continuation of the Roumanian occupation of Bucharest. However the allies did not accept the other proposition of the Roumanian note which justified her actions in pointing out that the armistice of Nov., 1918, was no longer binding.

The Roumanians declared they did not receive Premier Clemenceau's note warning them to cease advancement until they had entered Budapest.

French Troops Release Legislators

(By United Press)

Luxemburg, Aug. 16.—At the request of the local Burgomaster, French troops charged the parliament building with bayonets and drove out the labor demonstrators and released the imprisoned deputies. The working men demand $90 instead of $50 bonus as protection against the high cost of living. They had recently stormed the parliament and imprisoned the men.

Life Sentences Too Easy for These Profiteers

Sold Sugar at $23.00 a Hundred
That Cost Only $5.35
a Hundred

Chicago, Aug. 16.—(United Press)—Arrests of one of the largest sugar shipping companies in Chicago will be made by federal authorities today, was announced by Assistant District Attorney Milroy. Milroy asserted the arrests will be made by direction of Assistant Attorney General Clyne, who was expected from Washington during the day. The profiteers were selling sugar at $23.00 a hundred which cost $5.35.

Federal authorities today seized 333 tons of butter valued at $1,200 at the Chicago Cold Storage warehouse. It is alleged to have been shipped here by R. F. Cobb of St. Paul.

TRIBUNE IS PAID FORD JUDGMENT

Seattle, Aug. 15.—Oregon's delegates to the new writers' association meeting today mailed the Chicago Tribune a check for 6 cents in payment of the judgment given Henry Ford in his suit against the paper.

Mexican Troops Kill Bandits

(By United Press)

Mexico City, Aug. 16.—Federal troops killed seven bandits by a surprise attack in the Tampico region today. Included in the dead bandits it was believed were those that attacked and robbed sailors on the American warship Cheyenne.

The authorities declared the bandits had committed other robberies and had in possession a large quantity of booty of American origin.

Prince of Wales Goes to Halifax

(By United Press)

St. John, Newfoundland, Aug. 14.—Bearing the Prince of Wales the British cruiser Dragon, was steaming yesterday toward Halifax and will arrive tomorrow along side the warship Renown, which brought the Prince across the Atlantic.

WILLIAM J. GRAHAM

Representative Graham is chairman of the house committee investigating war department expenditures.

Canada Must Face Nation Wide Strike or Stop Profiteering

(By United Press)

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Canada will have to face the calamity of a nation-wide strike this fall unless the dominion crushes profiteering. It was forecast in a resolution passed at an executive meeting of the imperial veterans in Canada, last night. A copy was forwarded to the federal authorities here.

The veterans condemn "wholesale robbery of the public" and place upon it blame for "a prevailing spirit of unrest throughout Canada."

Storage Eggs are Seized by Government

(By United Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 16.—Federal authorities today ordered seizure of 4,626 cases of eggs, 30 dozen in the case, alleged to have been held by seven owners of the Mound City Ice & Cold Storage company here.

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 16.—United States Marshall Case seized a large quantity of eggs, butter and cheese here today.

100,000 MEN RECRUITED FOR THE NEW ARMY

Washington, Aug. 16.—Secretary N. D. Baker announced that 100,000 men have been recruited to the permanent regular army, of which 68,000 were soldiers who re-enlisted, 25,000 being men who served in France. The rate of enlistment is 4,000 a week.

STORAGE PRODUCTS MUCH INCREASED OVER A YEAR AGO

Increase Ranges from 20 to 299 Per Cent Since Last Year

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS BLOCK EFFORTS TO REDUCE H. C. L.

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Wilson's efforts to obtain legislation with which to fight the high cost of living were blocked in the senate committee on agriculture by southern democrats, who objected to extension of the food control act to include shoes and clothing and the provision of a penalty for hoarding.

They complained it meant too much government interference with business. The house republicans, however, prepared to take up the proposed legislation while the administration sought $500,000 more for the campaign, bringing the money requests up to $3,500,000.

Smoke Barrage to Save Brazil's Coffee

By LAWRENCE S. HASS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Rio de Janeiro (By Mail)—The "alerte" and "all clear" system of warning of air raids, which was used in Paris during the war, has been adopted by the coffee planters of Southern Brazil in unique measures which have been ordered to combat frost. A smoke barrage is to be adopted instead of the shrapnel which was so effectively used to "gel" enemy air raiders, and the agricultural officials if this country believe that compliance with the new regulations will provide against a repetition of the damage of last year's frost, which cost so many millions of dollars to planters and also to consumers.

During the winter of 1918 an extraordinary cold wave, beyond the memory of the "oldest inhabitants," swept over Southern Brazil, and it was during this spell that the first snow in more than eighty years fell in Buenos Aires. The frost found the planters absolutely defenseless, and when normal weather returned, it was found that millions of coffee trees were killed and a large percentage of the others injured so badly that the crops for the next three years will be cut down by about one-half. Instead of a production of 15-600,000 bags a year, seven or eight millions is all that can be hoped for annually until 1921.

This frost had the effect of about tripling the local price of coffee. The new plan which has been solved for getting the best of "Jack Frost" is being put into effect by the Municipality of Itahy, a city in the State of Santa Catharina, in the heart of the Southern Brazil coffee country. Planters in other localities will watch the effect of this campaign with the greatest interest and many are considering its adoption. Its success will probably mean the enforcement of such a regulation in other districts where coffee crops would be subject to frost.

The regulations are compulsory, being issued by the agricultural authorities. Violation by planters under the jurisdiction of the district lays them subject to heavy fines.

The project calls for the preparation of fuel for bonfires North, East and West of the coffee groves at distances of thirty to forty metres apart. This preparation must be made early in the cool season and continued for several months. Each planter must collect sufficient wood and brush to keep the fires burning three nights in succession, and in case the fuel reserve becomes in any way depleted must maintain the adequate supply. When the forecasters see a frost, a signal to the planters to light their fires immediately will be given by means of the firing of bombs.

The idea is to create as much smoke as possible, and hay and green leaves are to be thrown on the fires. When the danger of frost is passed the planters will again be notified by bombs to extinguish their fires.

Bureau of Markets Has Just Completed Survey of Storage Products

BY L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 16.—Officials of the department of justice today planned an investigation of the storage houses in which are holdings of butter, eggs and poultry and dairy products. These have increased from 20% to 299% since last year.

All of the storage houses in the country are now in possession of the Bureau of Market, which has just finished a survey. The justice department officials plan to ask for facts brought out in this survey, result of which has just been announced.

A canvass made by the Bureau of Markets shows the cold storage holdings of creamery butter August 1, 1919, were 40 6-10 per cent in excess of the total of August 1, 1918, an increase of 3,635,549 pounds of butter. The holdings August 1, 1919, total 124,839,792 pounds.

Cases of eggs held in storage August 1, 1919, shows an increase of 20 4-10 per cent over last year when only 6,523,942 cases were reported. The total August 1, 1919, has jumped to 7,853,288 cases. "Steps are now being taken to counteract this situation" said C. D. Ames, assistant attorney general in charge of the campaign during the absence of Attorney General Palmer.

INVESTIGATION OF COAL PROFIT ORDERED

Washington, Aug. 15.—The senate today ordered an investigation into alleged profiteering in coal and into charges of conspiracy to keep up prices. The Frelinghuysen resolution, adopted today without debate, directs the senate interstate commerce committee to make the inquiry.

More Profiteers are Arrested

(By United Press)

Chicago, Aug. 16.—John F. Campbell and John E. Hunter, officials of the J. F. Campbell Company here, were arrested on the charge of violating the food control act. The profiteers purchased sugar from the Arbuckle Brothers of New York for $8.82 per hundred and sold it at $15.00 per hundred.

England Seeking Court-Life Reform

(By United Press)

London, (By Mail)—The substitution of more or less informal "at homes" for the "starchy" and expensive courts and levees is being seriously considered by King George and Queen Mary. During the war presentations at court were few and far between, and as a result there is an enormous list of titled and society women awaiting "presentation," either as debutantes or on their marriage, or for one of the numerous reasons laid down by court etiquette. The list of men awaiting the boredom and expense of the old morning "eyes" is also considerable.

The tailor's bill for a levee suit runs to over $500, while the toilette of a debutante at Court runs to practically unlimited figures. A revival of the pre-war garden parties at Buckingham Palace and Windsor, at which there is far less formality and for which an ordinary morning suit or costume suffices, is certain. The recent "Housing Dubar," or "At Home" paved the way for the innovation, and it is understood that such informal gatherings are to be more frequent.

Steel King Who Died Suddenly, His Wife, Their Only Child Who Will Inherit Millions, and Fifth Avenue Residence

Although he was in his eighty-fourth year, the death of Andrew Carnegie, multi-millionaire and philanthropist, was unexpected. His only child, who only a few months ago became the bride of Ensign Roswell Miller, U. S. N., was unable to reach the "Steel King's" bedside before his death. Just how many millions he will inherit is not known but the immensity of her father's fortune is indicated by the fact that up to June, 1918, the Laird of Skibo's benefactions totalled $250,695,653. Mrs. Miller is seen in the circle. Below is one of the latest photographs of Mr. Carnegie and a recent photograph of Mrs. Carnegie. The building is the Carnegie residence on Fifth avenue.

FOILED PLAN FOR ALLIANCE

How Bismarck Frustrated Negotiations Which Had Been Opened Between France and Austria.

An incident from Mr. C. G. Robertson's life of Bismarck throws interesting light on the methodical way in which Bismarck worked out his state policies. It concerns the negotiations opened between France and Austria after 1866 for an alliance against Prussia. Emperor Francis Joseph had emerged from the Seven Weeks' war desirous of revenge and with substantial forces still intact. Napoleon met Francis Joseph at Salzburg, and a few weeks later the Austrian emperor traveled to France with his military suite and gave orders that the imperial train should stop nowhere on German soil, and, in particular, that it should pass the South German courts at night in order to avoid embarrassing interviews.

Nothing marred the monarch's peace of mind until, in the dead of night, the train approached the German frontier near Baden-Baden; there it suddenly came to a standstill. The aide-de-camp, on inquiring for the reason, was shown a lonely figure wrapped in a dark military cloak standing in a pouring rain. The stranger wanted to speak to the Emperor Francis Joseph. Who was he? It was King William of Prussia!

Thus, on a dark September night in 1867, did the emperor of Austria and the king of Prussia meet for the first time since Koniggratz. The interview lasted several hours and took place in the rear carriage of the imperial train. What passed is not known, but the writer is satisfied that William of Prussia asked Francis Joseph not to betray the German cause, and warned him of the forthcoming Franco-German war. On reaching Paris Emperor Francis Joseph proved adamant to the most tempting offers of alliance. The incident remained a secret; a few local papers referred to it as merely a slight mishap to the imperial train!—Youth's Companion.

NAMELESS BABE PROBLEM NEARS RIGHT SOLUTION

Rescue Houses of Salvation
Army Prove Home of Refuge for Unfortunates.

LOVE BASIS OF METHOD

Work to Be Extended To All Cities of Country Where Need Is Apparent.

Unfortunate nameless babies have always been with us, but today they present a problem that demands serious and immediate attention.

These little nameless waifs, handicapped before they even see the light of day, dishonored through no fault of their own, predestined to a life of sneers and scoffing call as never before for redemption not from sin of their own commission but from the cruelty of a people frequently unjust in their unreasoning brutality toward all who break conventions.

Germany with its business-like efficiency has recognized the condition and legitimized the child. France and England plan to follow the same course but over here in free America we are letting the situation ride along, doing nothing—all of us but The Salvation Army and it, in an old-fashioned way, has found an old-fashioned solution—mother's love.

It applied this solution first in the morals court of a great western city known the world over as wicked and lawless. In the foreboding chamber with its dark, gloomy walls of polished mahogany, where even the grimy windows hold back the beams of sunlight, a girl of twenty-two, with soft, pretty but weak features was before the bar of justice. The judge spoke:

"Why were you wandering about alone in the park at the time you were arrested?"

No answer. Only a look of appeal. "Tell the court. You need not be afraid."

Still no answer. No offense had been committed. The judge thought he understood and had one of his bailiffs call up the rescue home of The Salvation Army. Within a few minutes a lassie appeared and led the girl into a dreary witness room where other wrecks were ranged along the still oak benches waiting to learn their fates, and sat down with her.

Sympathy a Panacea

No questioning, no advice, only a grip of sympathy. The stolid lethargy, so near to stupidity, that follows great grief was apparent and the lassie made no attempt to break through it, but leading the heart and body weary girl back to the courtroom, turned to the judge and said:

"Your honor, allow me to care for this girl. I think I understand."

"Be it so ordered."

The two left and as they went their way the judge, who knew human nature, remarked:

"It's ten to one you won't know that girl if you see her ten weeks from today. Next case."

Outside in the corridor the lassie quietly turned to the girl.

"Now you and I are going to rest up a bit. You must be very, very tired. It's only a little way to my home and there you can sleep."

Worn out nerves and a hopeless mind made the girl acquiesce. Together they traveled out of the towering court house, the girl shrinking and shuddering as they passed a "Blue Maria" patrol wagon. The lassie understood and threw her arm about the trembling sufferer. Into a taxi they went and away out of the noise and depressing activity of the business section.

As they whirled over the river again came the convulsive shudder. Again the lassie understood and wondered if the rushing water had not been cheated the night before by that subconscious courage which only generations of righteous living develops and is generally ready and active when the real crisis comes no matter how weak the afflicted may be.

Fashions For Autumn

(Written for the United Press)

By MARGARET ROHE

The yellow peril now is near.

We're due to have a jaundiced year. And fruity shades of citron hue may make a lemon out of you.

New York, August 16.—What a long tail our hat has! All the new perky little sultan turbans of crushed velvet, round velvet sailor shapes with rolled up brims and, in fact, almost all the early autumn millinery models have a long swishing tassel of vivid silk dangling from their midst. Whether it be of the self-same tone as its parent chapeau, as is the case usually where the hat is of black, dark brown or beige or whether it be a striking contrast the sprouting tassel bob about ubiquitously and also about the pretty ears and about six or eight inches long.

Under the head of the contrast class, but bound to be on the head of the class, is a sultan turban of the vivid Chinese vermilion velvet, with a tassel of the vivid Chinese green silk. Velvet is already very much to the fore and the forehead and brighter even than the aforementioned Chinese vermilion is a new shade of orange called capsicum, which brazenly rivals for very brilliance the rays of the August sun. It is one of the most popular of the

Over the viaduct and into the residential section they motored. There was a freshness of life about them, the invigorating breath of the spring-time of the year. The taxi stopped in front of an old red brick house, with a wide inviting porch, snow white curtained windows and a long hospitable hall.

Build Up Bodies First.

There was no signing of a register, no words of advice, no chiding. Merely a smile of welcome from the matron, a hurried order to prepare a "bite to eat," and get a bedroom ready. A warm invigorating bath, a little table with toast, coffee and eggs and then a long sleep.

"Say, why spend all this time on me," snapped the girl. "Hush, you are tired. Tumble in and rest," and the girl did.

These Salvation Army lassies are firm believers in repairing the body before trying to repair the heart. Yet they know by instinct and training when the psychological moment arrives to revive that latent self respect or love which alone brings courage to face the world and restores the real joy of living.

In this case there was no need to deepen the wounds of the girl, so nearly a waif. They did not need her story to know what had happened. She was a Magdalene neither better nor worse than the one of old and it was their duty to develop that state of mind where she could anoint the feet of the Great Comforter, which only time, kindly treatment and sympathy can unfold.

This girl was an invalid, mental, moral and physical. With the passing of time and kindly treatment this courage came and with it the rollicky cooing baby.

Then followed days of danger, a sudden revulsion, a dread of the future, and strange to say, a deep hatred of the innocent little one so eager for a mother's love and with it a desire never to see her offspring again.

Over across the seas, the governments take these youngsters at this nestling time and begin to rear them. The cold efficiency of the official does not know how to overcome this crisis and does not try. Science not the heart rules the foreign method of handling the innocent babies. They never know a mother's care. They are wards of the state. They grow up bitter and morose.

Develop Love for Child.

Here in The Salvation Army homes the mother is never permitted to lose sight of her little one. She nurses, first against her will, then reluctantly and finally with perhaps as deep a love as that of the mother, a few blocks away who never knew temptation. Then in the course of weeks comes an almost tigress love for the abused babe, and when that appears the case is won—the child is hers.

The mother is taught that never must she forget that her babe is of her own flesh and blood and that it is her duty to rear it in the paths of righteousness. It takes a real grit for a girl to face the world with this task before her and it takes careful watching to see that discouragement does not undo the work of regeneration. A Puritanic woman, through a strong rebuke, may make a derelict of a girl eager to sail across the sea of life steering with the compass of repentance. One rebuff and she is apt not merely to become a wreck but to go to the depths.

The Salvation Army not only recognizes these facts but so handles each case that the danger is minimized. It not merely accepts and cares for the unfortunates in their blue days of trial but gives them a home, finds work for the mothers and cares for the children while work is being done, and should the position be lost—houses and boards then until another place is obtained. The girl may never tell the real story of her downfall. The Salvationists do not seek to know. The girl faces a condition that is enough for the lassie the cause generally being the same in all cases, and the solution varies only according to the nature of the patient. Consequently the rescue homes of the organization prove marvels of success, for they are built on understanding and love.

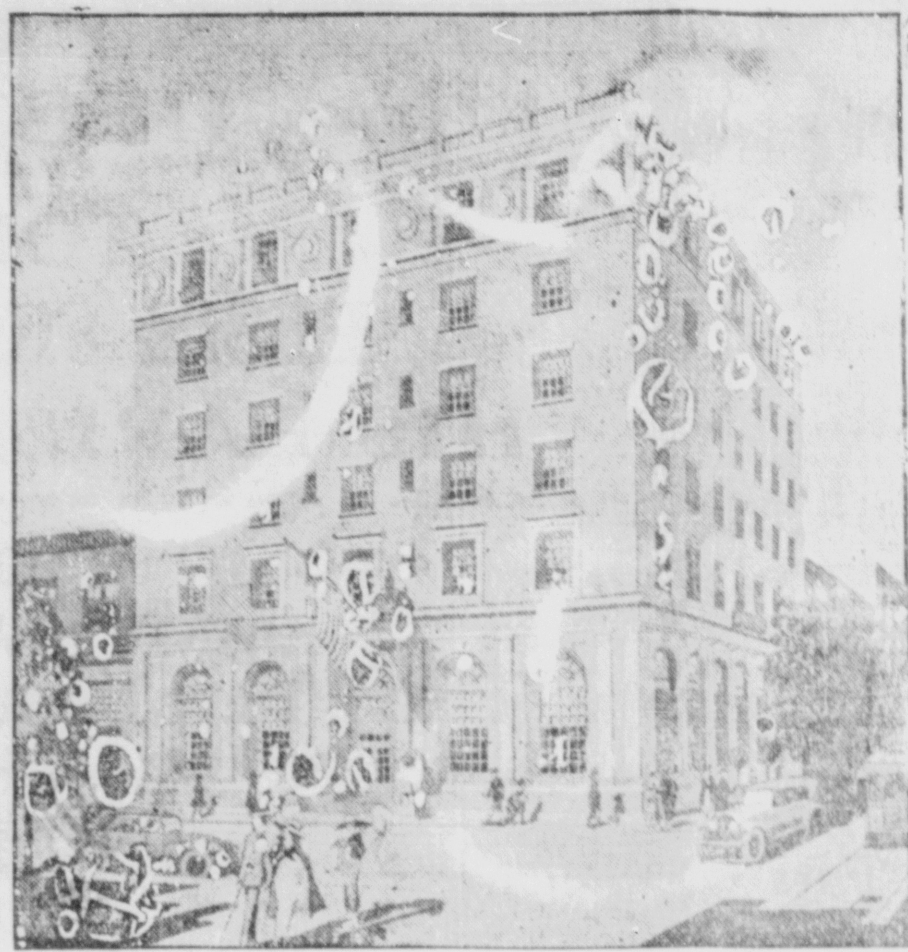

Like all Salvation Army relief movements its rescue work was never experimental. Its inception was coincident almost with the birth of the Army itself, for the wayward or unfortunate girl is a part of the stigma, more prevalent there than in the better stratas of society, and the slums are the fields of Salvation Army work.

new shades which run the gamut of all the yellows and browns. In fact you have to be jaundiced to be jaunty this fall. Fall fashions are fruit-ful and you must either be an orange or a citron to be truly chic. So pick your fruit and color your hat and your life accordingly.

Naturally these hectic orange shades are used on the suits and frocks merely as high-lights in embroidered touches here and there, but for evening gowns the entire costume partakes of the vivid hue. Suits and frocks are rather of some golden tint of brown or creamy beige and in the Fall Paris models it is amusing to note the multitudinous names used to designate the varying shades of tan. They vary only by a breath one from another and yet each boasts an entirely separate and exclusive appellation. Ecru, beige, mastic, putty, clay, old ivory, bisque champagne (alas that and a new shade called boe all only the glass of fashion nowadays), and going a bit deeper are bronze, wood brown, tobacco, a few red echoes of last season's red brown rust, henna and mahogany and, lastly, the deep depths of tete de nigre.

Black has been worn so persistently all summer in ebony satin frocks and gowns so dearly loved of the Parisian female heart that a blossoming out into the vivid yellows and warm browns this fall will be a welcome black off completely, however, and its

SALVATION ARMY ADOPTS STANDARD DESIGN FOR BUILDINGS

ONE OF THE NEW HOMES OF THE SALVATION ARMY.

Ten years ago a corner policeman of one of the large cities on the Pacific Coast turned in a call for the patrol wagon.

"Them Salvation cranks are stirring up things and there'll be a riot if ye don't hurry."

And there was a riot. Several lassies were severely injured by flying brick bats, and two blue clad soldiers of the army were badly beaten. The whole corps was arrested and then warned that it must cease its street meetings.

Folkmen were stationed in front of the old wooden building that sheltered its headquarters and stopped even relief work. The newspapers demanded that "these disturbers" be driven from the city and the Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance prohibiting them from holding open air meetings.

Last month that same city turned out en masse to raise $200,000 that the Salvation Army might be able to expand its fields of endeavor.

"De World Do Move."

Why the change? The Salvation Army has not deviated one tittle in its methods. It still follows its old fashioned course of seeking out the needy in body and soul and bringing them comfort and aid. But it is a new Salvation Army in the eyes of the public for it is now understood. Its work across the seas, under fire and at the front brought recognition, recognition appreciation and appreciation expansion. Expansion requires increased equipment and now the money must be raised to secure it.

Practice and Theory.

The Salvation Army does not intend to use its new buildings for social service laboratories. It cares nothing for the so-called "psychology of social work" that is absorbing the time and energies of men and women in so many other movements who might accomplish results if action took the place of research and real relief work was substituted for speeches at dinners and clubs. It has no payroll patriots who are chiefly concerned in holding their jobs. It is merely doing a work of mercy, and the lines it follows prove a sane and deep knowledge of social and community work.

It is laboring where need is apparent and studying causes after aid has been given. It wants new buildings to enable it to continue the mission of success and has adopted as standard a structure that will serve this purpose. The demands of cities and communities vary but in substance the buildings will contain:

A large senior hall, accommodating at least 500 people, a junior hall sufficiently large to take care of the young people's work, free medical, legal and employment bureaus, emergency rooms for stranded families, children, etc., relief department, offices for executives, shower baths, tub baths, reading rooms, library, gymnasium, and in some cases departments for Americanization and community work.

The cost of erecting these buildings varies but they will be built at as low a figure as possible. The Salvation Army has always run its establishments on a small overhead, for its members do not labor for pay but because they have consecrated themselves to the work. The charge of upkeep is so light that it is almost negligible, even repairs are made by the workers.

The money to build these institutions must come from the public. The Salvation Army is far from rich, in fact it lives from hand to mouth. Everything it gets it turns into acts of mercy. In the days gone by its funds were raised by tambourine and box collections. This took up over twenty-five per cent. of the time of its members and meant a heavy loss in efficiency. From this year on its methods of financing will be more modern and effective. A one week's drive will be held and the general public will be asked to contribute as generously as it feels the demand warrants. The sum asked will be based on a budget, carefully drawn up, including all expenses and promotional work for the ensuing twelve months.

In the East the amount subscribed exceeded the quotas set and the same result is expected of the West when the campaign closes on September 30th. There is reason for this hope. The West is liberal to all who are worthy. It has forgotten the days when it scoffed and assaulted the lads and lassies. Its jail cells still see the blue clad workers but not as prisoners. Policemen still stand at the doors of its halls, but they are there to listen or to prevent overcrowding. Times have changed. "De world do move."

REUNION AND PICNIC

Held by a Group of Old Friends at Lum Park on Thursday of this Week

On August 14th a very enjoyable reunion and picnic was held at Lum park by about thirty persons from different parts of the country, all old friends. The following were in attendance:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Lawrence and son of Duluth; Mrs. J. F. Hall and children of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Staff Donley of Scotland, N. D.; Miss Margaret MacDonald of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stela and children, Mrs. Clarence Benest, Mrs. Ed Hendricks, Mrs. R. W. Crust, Mrs. Fred Reese and children, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Henning, Misses Beatrice MacDonald, Neil Maloney, Jessie, Ella and Ruth Swanson, Fleda and Dedic Caniff, Mr. Thos. Emsay and Wm. A. Hanna, all of Brainerd.

All agreed that there is no place like Brainerd, and hope to enjoy many more such picnics here, playing ball, dancing and swimming.

FOR MISS GRONDIN

A shower was given Lucile Myrre Grondin last evening at her home, 618 South Fourth street. The shower was given by the Philathea class of the Baptist church Sunday school. There were about twenty-two present and a splendid time was enjoyed. One of the features of the evening was the stringing on a clothes line of the different articles given to her. These she had to take down one by one amid the fusillade of pleasant cries aimed at her. Light refreshments were served. Miss Grondin will be married this month.

Plants That Feed on Animals.

That such plants as "Venus flytrap" actually catch and squeeze to death flies and other insects alighting on their leaves has long been known, but the discovery is comparatively recent that the plants digest the softer parts of their prey by means of peptic ferment secreted by the leaves. These are real instances of plants feeding upon animals.

NAME MEANS WHITE ISLAND

Probable Explanation of Why Island of Great Britain Has Been Called "Albion."

"Albion" is the oldest name by which the island of Great Britain was known to the Greeks and Romans. Great Britain and Ireland were known by the general appellation of the Britanic Islands, while the former was designated by that particular name of Albion or Albiou, and the latter by Gut of Ierne, Iouernia or Erin. Caesar does not use the word Albion; his name for England was Britannia. Ptolemy says: "The name of the island was 'Albion,' the whole set of islands being called 'Britannia.'" The word "Albion" is still the only name by which the Gaels of Scotland designate that country; and the word signifies in the Gaelic language, white or fair island. The word "alb" itself is not now in use in Gaelic, but is probably the same root that we find in the Latin adjective "albus," and in the word "Alps." The name of Albion was probably given to England by the Gaels of the opposite coast, who could not fail to be struck by the chalky cliffs that characterized the nearest part of Kent. Some authors derive it from Albion, son of Neptune by Abhriffite, who according to the fabulous story went into Britain, established a kingdom and first introduced astrology and the art of building ships. He was killed at the mouth of the Rhone with stones thrown by Jupiter, because he opposed the passage of Hercules.

First to Cultivate Tobacco.

John Rolfe was the first white man who cultivated tobacco systematically—making it the principal crop of the plantation, "Varina," on the James, to which he took his bride, the Indian king's daughter. He began his operations in 1619.

Hollow Concrete.

According to the Kruckenbau, the production of hollow concrete bodies completely inclosed, which has hitherto only been possible within certain limits, is made easier by the new patent system of Stefan Rohm of Munich, who proposes to inclose a block of ice of the required shape in concrete. Of course, small openings or channels would be left, by means of which the thaw water could escape. In this way it is possible to produce not only small concrete bodies with hollow centers but large ones as well. The process can be applied to artificial stone.

American Chemical Products.

The interest in chemistry and chemical products has greatly increased in the United States owing to the fact that this country has been forced by the war to depend upon its own resources in this direction. The following uses are ascribed to these chemical products: In making soap and paper pulp, mercerizing cotton and purifying mineral oils, caustic soda is used; soda ash is necessary in the manufacture of soap and glass; silicate of soda (better known as water glass) is utilized in the manufacture of soap and in dyeing and printing calico, finishing cotton goods, preventing wood rot, bleaching jute and preserving eggs.

THEY INVESTIGATE

At last it has dawned upon official Washington that the American people have been staggering under a heavy cost of living burden for many, many months.

At last the globe-trotting administration has tumbled to the fact that feeding the hungry at home is as important as mending the torn heart of the world.

The entire rag, tag and bobtail of officialdom has come out with plans to reduce this same high cost of living ocre.

Hysterical cabinet members and what not are rushing into print with panaceas for the public pocket.

What folly! There is no man in the administration who has not known for months the situation and the causes which have led up to it.

Profiteers have been allowed to flourish like the green bay tree for five years.

Everybody knows this. Dealers in foods and manufacturers of textiles have been allowed to swindle continually. Nothing has been done. Nothing will be done.

An army of "deserving Democrats" will be put on committees and allowed to "investigate" at public expense.

It will amount to nothing except added expense.

There is no need to investigate.

Cut the price of cotton to normal, force the packers to deal fairly with the people, offer the manufacturers the choice of fair profits or jail, stand a few labor leaders on their heads until they see reason and jail those who are preaching discontent, tell the jobbers that profiteering means the penitentiary, curb the rapacity of the retailer and pay the farmer a fair price for his products and no more—do these things and the cost of living will tumble to its proper level so fast that it will make your head swim.

Unless the administration has the backbone to do all of these things nothing will result from these dignified "investigations."—Anoka Herald.

ISSUE NOT SETTLED

The streets of Brainerd are quiet this morning. During the strike the streets were full of men walking about or standing in groups. At the sound of the whistle work was resumed this morning at 7 o'clock in the shops and the wheels of that great institution for over a week idle were humming with activity.

August 24 the official strike vote will be made. This is a referendum vote for all railroad employees and will determine what further steps will be taken.

The fact that the men went back to work this morning does not settle the issue. This is only an ominous lull in the storm. It is felt everywhere that there must not only be an investigation of high prices but something must be done else the next walkout will be generally by all railroad men.

The story of food profiteering, hoarding and excessive profits as it has been brought forth in the investigations so far made, has aroused the fighting spirit. A radical leader of ability could seize such a situation to fan the flame into a conflagration.

The labor convention now being held in Chicago will determine largely the action of the men till the official vote is taken. After that the result of the government's attempts to bring about an adjustment in prices will determine the future.

In the meanwhile the only certain thing is the uncertainty of the situation.

FOURTEEN POINTS

There seems to be a lot of misunderstanding about the celebrated fourteen points upon which the peace treaty is founded.

In an effort to clear up the situation somewhat we offer the following as possibly the fourteen points which were in mind.

1. Providing an early, safe and high market abroad for southern cotton.

2. Avoiding trouble with Japan even at the cost of double-crossing China.

3. Giving England all that her statesmen required.

4. Protecting the southern tobacco crop.

5. Providing a resident abroad for Col. House at Public expense.

6. Pacifying Iceland.

7. Avoiding the ill will of the socialists at home and abroad.

8. Establishing social relations with the tag ends of royalty still reigning in Europe.

9. Providing "great popular demonstrations" for self and wife.

10. Collecting gifts and souvenirs.

11. Providing a trip abroad for "experts" and their aunts.

12. Coining phrases and platitudes.

13. Saving the heart of the world from being hopelessly cracked.

14. Arranging to be president of the world.

Founded upon these bed rocks of public weal and polity, no one with an ounce of mind can question the longevity of the recent peace pact.—Anoka Herald.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Best Today

Elsie Ferguson, the beautiful Art-craft star, will be seen as a Parisian newspaper reporter in her latest photoplay, "His Parisian Wife," which will be shown at the Best theatre today. This is a delightful story adapted by Eve Unsell and the picture was directed with highly gratifying results by Emilie Chautard.

At the Best Tomorrow

Emmy Whelen, Metro's fascinating young star, will be the attraction at the Best theatre tomorrow in the clever comedy-drama "The Amateur Adventuress."

The story is that of a young girl, Norma Wood, who is tired of the humdrum existence of every-day life in an office. She determines to set out in search for adventure—in other words to see life. To accomplish this properly requires money and, most beautiful clothes. How to get them is the problem. But being a woman Norma accomplishes both and the only thing that remains is the adventure itself. How she gets this and the surprising manner in which Fate plays into her hand, is thrillingly shown in this picture which gives Miss Whelen every opportunity to display her remarkable talent and—her clothes. An amazing series of incidents show how adventure follows adventure in rapid succession and how happiness and love is her ultimate reward. Miss Whelen's dramatic powers and whimsical humor have never appeared to better advantage.

P. M. Bislar, machinist, 412 So. Twelfth St. says: "I had occasional attacks of kidney trouble for some years. They always began with a lameness across my back and developed into a constant dull ache. My kidneys would then act irregularly and the secretions contained a heavy sediment. A physician here said I could use nothing better than Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured some at Dunn's Drug Store. I am now entirely cured." (Statement given September 1, 1908.)

OVER NINE YEARS LATER, on November 5, 1917, Mr. Bislar said: "I have every bit as much confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills as when I gave my former endorsement. Sometimes when I have caught cold, I have noticed a slight return of the trouble and I have always used Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to give me prompt relief."

Will Visit Every Country in World

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 16. (United Press)—Charles W. Wood, a New York newspaper man, sailed recently on the "Empress of Russia" on one of the most remarkable assignments since Jason set out to find the Golden Fleece.

"Visit every country on earth and find out what the people want." This commission was given Wood by the Centenary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal church. It may take him 20 years. It probably will.

Wood was on the Sunday editorial staff of the New York World when given his sailing order. Twelve years ago, at 27, he was a locomotive fireman and began his newspaper career as a cub reporter on the Syracuse Journal, in 1909. His wartime interviews in the New York World were later put together in a book "The Great Change."

Wood's first stop on his trip will be at Shanghai, China. From there he will go up the Yang Tse Kiang river to interior China. His mission is not merely to "write up the missions" but to interpret the needs of each country as expressed by its leaders in every walk of life.

"I don't know where I'm going but I'm on my way," is literally true of Wood. He has never been in any foreign country before and speaks no language except English. He has no guide, no schedule and no definite orders. He is accompanied only by his wife, who is equally unacquainted with foreign lands. Their immediate destination, however, is Cheng-Tu in Western China, which is about as thoroughly foreign a city as any white folks ever visit. There, rather than in the cities familiar to American tourists, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will begin to look at the problems of earth as far as it is Manhattanly possible, through thoroughly Oriental eyes.

"I don't know anything about China," said Wood, before starting on his unprecedented journey, "and I have been doing my best not to learn anything about it until I get there. I have heard that it had 400,000,000 people, and I have taken it for granted that they all run laundries. I suppose I was selected for the job because they couldn't think of anyone else who would have so little to unlearn."

"Do you feel confident," he was asked "that you can actually get the Chinese way of looking at things across to American readers?"

"I don't know," he said. "I don't know whether there is any Chinese way of looking at things. Maybe the Chinese people are human. Maybe they love and hate and aspire like other human beings. Maybe they have human differences and human traditions and human prejudices. It is possible that they live on the same planet that Americans have been customarily inhabiting and that their problems may turn out to be our problems too."

"I am most anxious to learn," he added, "what the people of all these countries want, and I don't know of any better way of finding out than to ask them. Most Americans that I have met seem to go on the assumption that we have certain advantages here which the people of the Orient do not possess. If that is true, we have wonderful opportunity to be of service to them. I am not a missionary. I am not a church-man. But I happen to agree with Jesus that it is more blessed to give than to receive; and I may be able to discover some new ways in which America can be blessed."

"I expect to talk with political and government leaders, with leading spokesmen of industry, business and education, with labor leaders if I can find them, and with the teachers of other religious creeds. I am about as rank an outsider as could have been selected for such a job, but the Methodists seem perfectly willing to let me find out everything I can."

"Where do you go when you leave China?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he said. "I have a't any itinerary, and the world is in such a state of flux just now that it would seem foolish to try to construct one. Eventually we expect to visit every country on earth; but I am not a war correspondent, and with war still raging in so many places there will be many countries which it will not be easy to visit for some years to come."

"I am trying to arrive at a world outlook, but I don't think I shall begin by asking everybody what he thinks of the world. Perhaps the world is in some such situation as I am. Perhaps it is headed for somewhere and hasn't got it full itinerary mapped out. If I stick around awhile however, I may be able to detect some signs of movement; and wherever I do find movement I intend to ask questions."

Peach Tree Grown in Pot.

Recent importations of the United States bureau of plant industry include a pot-grown peach tree from Rev. George Campbell, a South China missionary. A tree only 15 inches tall ripened five good-sized edible cling-stone peaches. The plant is said to come true to seed, and it is predicted that fruit growers will develop a remarkable new race of dwarf peaches.

Hog Island.

Hog Island was a swamp of waste land when the great war came. The name has been attached to it since early days when it was occupied by Indians, but the exact reason for its naming is obscure.

LABOR CELEBRATION TO BE HELD IN BRAINERD

Joint Committee of Labor Men and Farmers Appointed to Make Arrangements

SPEAKING IN GREGORY PARK

Sports in City Streets and Dancing in the Evening at Gardner Hall

At a meeting called for the purpose committees have been appointed to make arrangements to properly celebrate Labor Day in Brainerd, which this year, the first Monday in September, falls on the first day of the month.

An innovation this year was the appointing of a general committee on arrangement composed partly of laboring men in the city and farmers from the country surrounding the city. The committee as announced is as follows: P. T. Brown, chairman; and Joe Gabiou, secretary and treasurer, and the following personnel: Labor—J. J. Murphy, C. W. Collins, M. Ward, Roland Jenkins and Bert Kylo. Farmers—F. Engman, Deerwood, G. F. Edquist, Brainerd; R. L. Hall, Dykeman; Alton Thelander, Brainerd, and August Erickson Brainerd.

Chairmen of sub-committees have been announced as follows:

Finance—Roland Jenkins.
Grounds and Parade—J. J. Murphy.
Sports—C. W. Collins.
Dance—M. Ward.
Speakers—Bert Kylo.
Printing—P. T. Brown.

The usual parade will be held, concluding with speaking in Gregory park. The sports will be held down town on one of the city streets, concluding with dancing in the evening at Gardner's hall.

Good prizes will be given for the winners in the sports, the band will play and everything will be done to give entertainment to all. Let every one boost to make this year's Labor Day celebration a great success.

ROLL OF HONOR

Ray Hall returned home yesterday after nearly two years over seas service, eight months of which was spent in Germany. Ray says he is not fond of the war, neither does he like the frogs. With Bob Stiekney, of this city, he had several months on the firing line, and at one time it was rumored about town that he was wounded and had lost both legs. As a matter of fact he never was sick or injured and looks in splendid physical condition. After a period of rest he will resume his old position in the carrier service. Bob Stiekney came to the Twin Cities with Mr. Hall but remained there a little longer to visit friends.

SOLICITORS GET BUSY

On Monday to Put Over the Salvation Army Campaign Drive For Funds

The Salvation Army drive will start Monday. Solicitors in all wards have been appointed and a hurry up job will be made. Though it will be done in as short a time as possible yet the committee is anxious that no one be overlooked and that everyone do all he can to aid this good work. "Make your subscription big" is the slogan. The men are now at work in the shops and a better feeling exists in the community. Much publicity has been given the movement and a general sympathy exists for the cause.

BIDS WANTED

Sealed bids will be received by the superintendent of the Deerwood sanatorium for the installation of a steam heating system in the staff cottage and for the construction of a concrete root cellar. All bids must be in on or before Aug. 20th, 1919.

BRAINERD MADE ATTRACTIVE

With the Tearing Down of the Shacks Used as Depots the City Will be More Sightly

When the new depot is completed the old building that now mars the landscape at the site of the old depot will be torn down and the grounds cleared up and parked. For nearly three years now these shacks have been used for the accommodation of the Brainerd public and it will be a glad day when something of beauty takes their place. Many believe that the water tower with its stuccoed exterior and red limestone windows will be attractive and command the notice of every passerby. Ultimately the company will extend its parking system to the river thus wiping out the ugly features of this district as it now appears. The city is being made attractive in many ways this summer with its new buildings, new roads and streets and well deserves the name given to it, "The City Beautiful."

OPEN AIR LABOR MEETING SUNDAY

There will be a big open air meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the interest of labor at Gregory park. Mr. Emme, a labor orator, of St. Paul, will be present and address the meeting. The city band will be there and furnish several numbers. The committee in charge would like a large representation of Brainerd citizens.

THE PELICAN LAKE BETTER FARMING CLUB

Was Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Sculberg, About Seventy-Five Attending

MILK TESTING—COUNTY FAIR

Were the Topics of the Day—The Ladies of the Club Served Picnic Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Schulberg entertained the Pelican Lake Better Farming club at their home August 5th and had a very large attendance, there being about seventy-five present. The topics for the day were milk testing and county fair.

After the ladies of the club had served an excellent picnic dinner, President Ira Johnston called the meeting to order and Miss Alice Schulberg read the minutes of the previous meeting, after which a short business program followed.

County Agent E. G. Roth then gave a talk on the value of testing cows for milk and the relative merits of the different kinds of dairy cattle. A general discussion followed as there were several breeders present of different kinds of cattle and each felt that his type was the only type to have. The general conclusion of these very interesting arguments was that in order to secure the best results each farmer should choose his own breed.

Archie Jardine, the high school agricultural director then gave a discussion on milk testing and followed this by demonstrating the Babcock tester explaining the different steps as he tested the milk. The milk testing demonstration was very interesting and showed that the different cows produced different amounts of butter fat. It was decided that any one wishing to test different cows to see whether they were boarders or a paying proposition, should bring their milk in at any meeting to have it tested, as the club own a milk tester and will test milk at each meeting.

Committees were arranged and plans made to put up a farmers' club exhibit at the county fair this fall. With a few exceptions a good crop has been secured in this community and this farmers' club is going to give the other clubs exhibiting, strong competition for premier honors at the fair, this fall.

PEQUOT ITEMS

Miss Lila Nelson of Brainerd has been visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Mrs. Victor Anderson and Ethel went to Brainerd by train Wednesday forenoon. Mr. Anderson and Harry drove down for them in the afternoon.

Mrs. Klatte went to Brainerd Saturday for a visit at the Arthur Carlisle home, returning Wednesday. She was accompanied by Carl Howe, who just returned from France.

Albert Z. Mann, state superintendent of the rural survey section of the Interchurch World Movement, and Rev. E. A. Cooke, pastor of the Methodist church at Brainerd, and county chairman of the survey, were in town Tuesday conferring with Rev. Martin H. Johnson.—Pequot Review.

SPECIAL PUBLIC SCHOOL TO BE ESTABLISHED HERE

For the Education of Deaf and Dumb Children From Four to Sixteen Years Old

$150.00 MONTHLY STATE AID

Can be Given Under Law Passed by Last Legislature, Fathered by Sen. Swanson

An effort is being made by the parents of deaf children and Senator Hilding A. Swanson to establish a special school for the instruction of deaf children in the Brainerd public schools, beginning September, 1919, under the conditions set forth in Chapter 194, laws of Minnesota, 1915, and as amended by Chapter 218, laws of Minnesota, 1919, of which amendment Senator Swanson was author. The old law provided that such schools may be established where there is an actual attendance of not less than five deaf children between the ages of four and ten years, and there will be paid from the current state school fund to the school where the deaf children are taught, the amount of $100 for each child, the school being in attendance nine months of the year. The amendment changed the age limit from four to ten, to four to sixteen and raised the state aid from $100 to $150.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cuskey, have done considerable work in having the parents sign petitions for the establishment of this school, and six have signed such petition, which is one more than is required by law. Mr. Cuskey and Mr. Swanson appeared before the school board on May 5th and August 4th, with reference to the establishment of said school, and the school board looked very favorable upon the amendment. An attempt is now being made to secure a teacher, and if one is secured, there is no doubt but that the school board will approve of the school being established. Prof. Cobb has had considerable correspondence upon the matter with S. A. Chalmers, state inspector of special classes, for such schools, who approved of the establishment of the same.

The only difficult matter would be, if a teacher was hired and sufficient students with a minimum of five, as provided by law, did not attend, but all the six petitioners have agreed to send their children to school, and it is believed there are many other deaf children who also would be educated in this school if they knew such a school was to be established at Brainerd. There were four such schools in the state under the old law at Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, but under the amendment to the law it is possible to have more of these schools, which are known as "day schools," and about which there has been considerable legislation for the benefit of these unfortunate children.

Before this law allowing instruction of deaf children in public schools was passed in 1915, all deaf children between the ages of eight and twenty years, had to be educated in the state school for the deaf at Fairbault, Minnesota. So under the present law, the children who are deaf, must either attend the Fairbault school, or the day school. If they attend a state school, they must pay $60.00 per year, for clothing, postage and transportation, but which sum is paid by the county if the parents of the child are paupers. There is no charge whatsoever to the parent or child in attending the day school in the school district where such child is attending.

The reason for the establishment of the day school was that the parents believe that the home is the place for the child during their growing years, so that they would associate with hearing people, as they will be compelled to do after leaving school, the main and best reason being however, that the said child would have the benefit of the home life, and receive the physical, mental and moral instruction through the family ties as a normal child, instead of being sent away from home to attend school for many years, which was not considered good for these small children as they would lose their mother's love, care and attention.

Out of the 169 schools for the deaf in the United States, 75 are public day schools and great success has been had in teaching the deaf in this new method of instruction, which is no greater than that of teaching a normal child, except that the teacher must be specially trained in this subject.

OPEN AIR SERVICES AT THE CITY PARK

An Orchestra of "Strings" Will be a Feature of Tomorrow Evening's Services

ONLY TWO MORE SERVICES

Rev. Wolner Will be the Leader and Rev. Cook the Speaker Tomorrow

An orchestra of "strings" will be a feature of the services in Gregory park tomorrow evening. This will prove a most helpful feature to the congregational singing. The season is fast drawing to a close when these services can be held out of doors. There will be but two more after tomorrow's service.

Despite the fact that a very heavy rain storm came up at the hour of service on last Sunday evening the service in the church was well attended. In case of rain tomorrow the services will be held in the Methodist church.

Rev. Hans J. Wolner will be the leader and Rev. E. A. Cooke will be the speaker tomorrow. Rev. Cooke is a most purposeful speaker. He has a message and quickly impresses his congregation that he is not speaking against time but that he is speaking only because he has a message in which he is thoroughly in earnest about.

The courtesy of the men from the Baptist church in carrying over chairs has made it possible to seat all who come on time. The services begin at 7:30 o'clock and are over in from 50 minutes to an hour.

NORTHWEST NEWS

Minneapolis, Aug. 16.—Twin City business men were entertaining directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce today. On a special train, from Glacier National Park, the party arrived at 7:30 this morning. After visiting Twin City industrial plants the directors motored to the Minikahda Club for luncheon at noon.

Included in the party are: Pres. Homer L. Ferguson, Newport News; vice president, A. B. Farquhar, New York; Joseph H. Defrees, chairman, executive committee, Chicago; D. A. Skinner, assistant secretary; F. N. Sheppard, manager, field division; Hobart H. Ramsdell, secretary to the president; Max W. Babb, Milwaukee; George H. Barbour, Detroit; John Roy Edson, treasurer, Washington; O. C. George, Omaha; L. S. Gillette, Minneapolis; Granger A. Hollister, Rochester; Clarence H. Howard, St. Louis; Frank H. Johnston, New Britain, Conn.; R. A. McCormick, Baltimore; John L. Powell, Wichita Falls, Kan.; Henry M. Victor, Charlotte; A. W. Smith, Atlanta.

Pomeroy Burton, editor, London Daily Mail and P. A. Seiberling, president Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., are guests on the tour.

The group will leave tonight on the return trip East. The annual convention of the Chamber has just ended at Seattle.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 16.—Preliminary steps were being laid today for the Salvation Army Home service campaign which is to be held in North Dakota, September 22 to 29. The state drive for funds, will be in charge of the Elks Lodge, whose officers today were busy mailing out final instructions to campaign workers.

The state's quota has not been fixed, but it is expected to be announced on the opening day of the drive. Nine North Dakota cities will be directly benefited by the campaign. These are Fargo, Grand Forks, Bismarck, Devils Lake, Valley City, Dickinson, Jamestown, Minto and Williston. Buildings are to be erected in a majority of these cities while the others will receive equipments.

Grand Forks, alone, of the North Dakota cities will not participate in this state's drive, but is included in the Minnesota campaign now under way. Its subscriptions, however will be included in North Dakota's total. Local reasons caused Grand Forks to be transferred to the Minnesota drive.

BRAINERD VS. IRONTON

One of the Closest, Warmest and Best Played Games Expected Sunday

One of the closest, warmest, best played games of the season is predicted for tomorrow afternoon at the Koering field when Ironton comes to clash with Brainerd's pennant winners. The game, last Sunday, was played at Ironton and resulted in a victory for the team from the range by the close score of 1 to 0. It was anybody's game and tomorrow's battle will be another one of those hair-raisers. The Brainerd team has been strengthened for the remaining games as they are all hard games scheduled, and the locals will make a strong fight for all five remaining games. The wonder of the present season pitcher, Wood of Little Falls, together with Armstrong, star catcher, Diedrich, Bemidji third baseman, and Bessemer, all around player, have been secured to help the Brainerd team clean up the coming schedule and the line-up is announced as follows:

Diedrich, third base.
Benda, second base.
Cook, first base.
Armstrong, catcher.
Bessemer, right field.
Sheffo, center field.
Stallman, short stop.
Patterson, pitcher.

This line-up gives the locals the added punch and will make their opponents step to hold the score down.

Sunday Golf is Given Sanction

(By United Press)

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 16—Eight days of continuous golf—play for the national amateur championship of the United States—began here today on the course of the Oakmont club. It marked the first time in history that the United States Golf association has sanctioned Sunday competition, and was expected to draw many a protest from New England sections, where recently golf playing on Sunday was prohibited by law.

Tomorrow there will be a trade trophy competition, squeezed in on Sunday because of the large number of entrants for the national title.

Held in abeyance for two years because of war conditions, the national title is proving more attractive this year than at any time in history. Officials have freely predicted that the record entry list would tee off today.

Today's play was to be a weeding-out process at medal play, sixty-four survivors being scheduled to go on with medal play again on Monday. The surviving thirty-two will then open with match play which will be continued for five days.

The course of the Oakmont club is considered ideal for national title play. It is built so that summer droughts have little effect on the fairways. A clay subsoil has been built underneath, holding moisture close to the surface. Technique in shot rather than strength of drives, is thus necessary to make the best of approach shots. The two years layoff in national competition has been utilized by the Oakmont club in building its course until it now is considered one of the country's best. New traps have been built and with the natural hazards, it is made a most difficult course.

Rookie Pitcher Who Has Been Helping Red Sox to Keep Out of League Cellar

Hank Gowdy.

Baseball, the older the game gets, seems to show that finding star players is just as much of a gamble as drilling for oil or prospecting for gold. Here is Walter Hoyt, nineteen-year-old rookie whose pitching has helped the league standing of the Red Sox substantially. He first knew fame as a sixteen-year-old pitcher for a Brooklyn high school team and the astute John McGraw signed him up with the Giants—then let him lose.

Fish Eat Other Fish.

When a codfish eats it takes an oyster in its mouth, cracks the shell, digests the meat and ejects the shell. Crabs crack the shells of their smaller neighbors and suck out the meat. This accounts for the mounds of shells which are found beneath the waves. And, as further illustrating the constant destruction going on in the ocean's depth, it is said that if a ship sinks at sea it will be eaten by the fish with the exception of its metal portions.

World's Highest Peaks.

The highest mountain peak in North America is Mt. McKinley, in Alaska, whose altitude is 20,300 feet, and the highest in South America, Mt. Aconcagua, in the Andes, on the border of Chile and Argentina, 23,080 feet. The highest mountain in the world is Mt. Everest, in the Himalayas, in Asia. Its altitude is 29,002 feet. There are several hundred mountain peaks in the Himalayas 20,000 feet or over, running to an altitude of 28,278 feet.

MCGRAW PUT GOWDY STRAIGHT

New York Manager Compelled to Use All His Powers of Persuasion to Make Him Catch.

John McGraw was talking the other day of ball players he had developed, and mentioned the name of Hank Gowdy.

"The funniest thing about Gowdy is that he did not want to become a catcher, and I had to use all my power of persuasion in order to make him do so. When Gowdy came to me from the Dallas club he was a first baseman, and though he was a fair enough fielder and good hitter, I soon saw he was too slow on his feet to make a first baseman. I told him that his only chance to remain in the major leagues was to become a catcher, but at first he did not agree with me. I convinced him that what I said was true, however, and he finally consented to go behind the bat. Now he's quite a catcher, I'll say."

Beethoven's Courage.

Ludwig van Beethoven, the eminent composer pianist who was born at Bonn, Austria, in 1770, was perhaps one of the greatest examples of patience ever known. At the age of thirty he was afflicted with deafness, yet struggled on, completing masterpieces and living exclusively in his art. "Until a Raphael he struck with blindness in the full freshness of his powers, Beethoven is without a compeer in the history of all ages, either in misery or in bliss." So said his dearest friend, who knew him during his years of affliction and also success, the latter of which came to him mostly in Austria's capital.

FROM CHERRY-BLOSSOM LAND

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes our American women often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

After long experience in the treatment of women's diseases, Dr. Pierce evolved a vegetable tonic and corrective which he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a purely vegetable preparation, without a particle of alcohol contained in it.

When a woman complains of backache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before her eyes—a dragging feeling, or bearing-down, with nervousness, she should turn to this "temperance" herbal tonic. It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid. Dr. Pierce, of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., will send a trial size of the tablets for ten cents.

DIAMOND NOTES

Bill Bailey continues to pitch wonderful ball for the Beunmont team.

The lowly Spartanburg team stopped Charleston after it had won ten straight.

Duffy Lewis is playing good ball now. His hits, which are frequent, are also timely—doubly valuable.

Turn the American league standing upside down, and the Red Sox would be staging their usual pennant drive.

Doc Johnston of Cleveland is third among American league batters. He is the same Johnston who went back to the minors because he could not hit.

The Pirates have a formidable quintet of pitchers to puzzle the opposing batsmen in the National league—Adams, Cooper, Hamilton, Mayer and Miller.

According to the dope, any ball club able to stick around the first division until July Fourth with a mark of .500 or better stands a good show of winning the pennant.

Ping Bodie is shining these days, and is a near-idol with New York fans. Home runs, triples, doubles and singles are coming in flocks for Ping and he is as well pleased with himself as the Gotham fans are pleased with him.

Dutch Reuther, little counted on when Pat Moran assembled his Red pitching staff, begins to look like the best on the team. He not only is pitching winning ball, but has done stunts in the outfield and as a pinch hitter.

Manager Ed Barrow of the Red Sox rises to complain about the report that Jack Barry was the cause of dissension in his club. It is an injustice to Jack, says the Boston boss, who insists that his team is, and was, one happy family.

The Snyder who is playing shortstop for Peoria is not one of the family that has provided a number of players for Three I clubs in the past. This Snyder comes from the Pacific coast and Manager Jimmy Hamilton discovered him in a shipyard out there.

By accepting 12 chances without a slip on June 23, Happy Felsch is believed to have tied the record for outfielders in nine-inning games. The White Sox picket came back the next day with nine more, a total of 21 chances in two consecutive nine-inning games.

The Giants have a great outfield, but their margin over the Pirate outposts is not very wide. Bigbee, Stengel and Southworth are championship material. When Max Carey is crowded out of the batting order, the quality of the other three speaks for itself.

Pine Stumps to Be Commercialized. Norway pine stumps obstructing agricultural development in northern Minnesota potentially are worth about $300,000,000, according to State Auditor Preuss.

"Distillation of pine stumps is a problem of recent development," he said. "It is done to secure various ingredients of great commercial value. Experiments have proven pine stumps on cutover northern Minnesota lands are exceptionally rich in resins, and adapted to the manufacture of turpentine, pine tar, pine creosote, pine oil, and similar products. A company is being formed to establish a plant in the northern part of the state."

Good Time to Do It.

"I can't see those socialists," said Uncle Eben. "When a man comes around talkin' dat red doctrine, right dar is where I gits color blind."
